

Just Get MAD About...

Optimizing Your Existing Technology Investment

Many Businesses Fail To Take Full Advantage of Licensing Dollars

Even the smallest of businesses these days have desktop computer systems, and many more have moved towards the use of server-based systems. Making the investment in the installation and configuration of these computer systems is an excellent use of organizational funds. Plus, along with the computer systems themselves, an organization also goes through an investment in software. When the software is purchased, you have in effect purchased the right to use all of the features and functionality built into that software product.

However, if you are like most businesses today, you and the rest of your organization will most certainly overlook all of the features and functionality being made available as part of the licensing agreement. Too often a software license is purchased and is utilized for the core offering only. However, the fact remains; there are many additional features and functions available that can play a key role in increasing your productivity and task efficiencies.

But what can you do about this issue?

About MAD Technology Solutions

MAD Technology Solutions is a leading provider of low cost, high quality, professional technology solutions and services to businesses of all sizes. MAD Technology Solutions will utilize our customer focused approach to work with you and your organization to help you optimize, and ultimately maximize your existing technology investment. Working with you and your organization, MAD Technology Solutions will gain a full understanding of how you are currently performing your tasks and operations, and how you are currently utilizing your technology. We will then offer additional demonstrations, product education, training and ongoing maintenance and support to ensure that you are effectively using everything that is "inside the box".

In particular, if you are using the Microsoft family of products, MAD Technology Solutions specializes in ensuring you get more from your products. Microsoft Office alone has a wealth of features and functionality that go untapped and could have a significant benefit on your organization, business growth and productivity, as well as your team's ability to work and collaborate together on documents, projects and business in general.

In our fast paced world of today, technology can be a tremendous challenge, but with the right solutions and services, it is also a significant benefit. So when you and your organization think about technology, just remember:

Don't worry about technology...just get MAD

For additional information regarding this issue, or to learn more about MAD Technology Solutions, please feel free to visit us online at:

<http://www.justgetmad.com>